Champion Chinese is well known for its dynamic approaches, joyful, meaningful and creative learning procedures, and the most of all, its extremely effective results. Chinese actually is an extremely easy and fun language to learn when the right tools and materials are used and when proper approaches are applied.

In this program, students will learn how to use either one or both 37 traditional phonetic Zhuyin/BoPoMo symbols and Romanized Pinyin symbols in 2-5 hours to sound out and pronounce Chinese characters, and, at the same time, use those 37 BoPoMo symbols as fundamental tools to decode and speed up the learning of writing and memorizing Chinese characters. This process makes the understanding and reading Chinese materials printed in both traditional and simplified characters extremely fun and easy.

The heritage and culture of China such as Qi-Gong, a traditional Chinese slow-movement meditation exercise, Chinese cooking, calligraphy, brush painting, paper folding and cutting, modern and classic poems and songs will also be explored.

Sign up now to build a solid foundation and have a jump-start on learning the Chinese language.

- In Fall 2012, through West Hartford Continuing Education program, Ms. Champion successfully helped 5 students (4 middle school students and one adult) acquire both Zhuyin/BoPoMo and Pinyin sounding systems and 80-120 traditional Chinese characters (plus their simplified forms) in 6 hours. Besides writing Chinese characters with ease and joy, those students can use either Zhuyin or Pinyin symbols to sound out Chinese characters, read Chinese materials printed with either traditional or simplified Chinese characters. They can also use those words to conduct simple conversation such as greeting people, counting objects, expressing simple feelings and emotions.
- In Taiwan, elementary schools usually use 55 classroom hours to cover the teaching of Zhuyin symbols. American colleges and military schools usually use about 10 to 17 hours to cover the teaching of Pinyin.
- In West Hartford public high schools, students are introduced around 150 simplified characters during the first year. According to IB standards, students should acquire 200-220 simplified characters during the first year of school.
- Champion Chinese Language Institute students learn all forms, only happier and faster!
